

Ionomer sealants X resin sealants: Literature review

Abstract

Sealants are indicated for the prevention of caries in healthy occlusal surfaces, and for better effectiveness as a preventive measure, besides the application of the same in due time, it is important to know some clinical aspects, as correct and accurate diagnosis of the injury, determining the risk caries, the field of application technique, oral hygiene education and control through periodic reviews to assess the integrity of the sealant and the progression of caries. This study aimed to compare the effectiveness of glass ionomer and resin sealants.

Descriptors: Pit and fissure sealants. Dental caries. Glass ionomer cements. Resin cements.

Colares FR, Dobranszki NPDC. Selantes ionoméricos X resinosos: Revisão de literatura. R Odontol Planal Cent. 2014 Jul-Dez; 4(2):2-7.